

Regular Meeting Of Town Council.

The regular meeting of the Town Council was held in the Town Office on Monday evening. Present: Mayor Fawcett, Councillors Thewlis, Morris, Gardiner and McNichol. The minutes of the former meeting were read and approved, after which the Council decided to hear the delegation present who wished to place their case before the Council.

J. W. McDonald, K. C., appeared before the Council respecting a parcel of land across the river owned by Mrs. Genge. It appears that there has been some uncertainty as to the ownership of this land, because of this the taxes have not been paid. Mr. McDonald informed the Council that the question of ownership has been settled and that he was anxious to clear the property of taxes. The Council decided to leave the matter to a committee consisting of the Mayor and Councillor Morris.

Messrs. A. T. Leather and R. D. McNay, of the Hospital Board, waited upon the Council to place before them the financial condition of the Hospital. At the present rate the Hospital is going behind $200.00 per month. There is an overdraft of $1259 at the bank which must be met, and the bank is asking for the assignment of all accounts due to the Hospital and the Board finds itself in a position in which it must receive some assistance or close up. After going into the matter thoroughly on the part of the Council the Mayor recommended that A. T. Leather place the whole facts of the case before Hon. A. G. McKay, minister of public health, promising Mr. Leather all the assistance in the matter the Council could render, and that the question be taken up at a later meeting. The Council also endorsed the action of the Hospital Board in relation to charges made for the isolation hospital.

The Medical Health Officer, Dr. S. J. Kirk, presented his report, showing that the town is remarkably free from sickness. Chief Lawson presented his report, which showed that except for a few minor offences Macleod is a good, law-abiding town.

The usual application from the School Board for salaries was read and granted, and accounts rendered against the Town were passed.

The subject of changing the location of the nuisance ground came up for discussion, and Engineer Pearson was instructed to have a new nuisance ground prepared near the river bank, north of the cemetery.

R. J. E. Gardiner was appointed Deputy-Mayor for the ensuing three months.

BASEBALL AT R.C.M.P.

There has been a good deal of competition among the troops of the R.C.M.P. stationed in this town. Up to the present time No. 4 troop has considered itself "cock o' the walk" by holding the football championship.

Their pride was badly shaken, however, when they had to come down a few notches in a baseball game with No. 3 troop last Wednesday, when they were beaten by a score of 13 to 3. Const. Reed, who is the star pitcher of No. 3, is feeling good and his wing was working fine, much to the discomfort of No. 4. There are to be a number of games in the near future and No. 3 hopes to maintain its good standing right through them all.

Mrs. L. D. Huntley received a wire this week telling of the death of her brother, A. J. O'Callaghan, of St. Paul, Minn., U.S. Mr. O'Callaghan served overseas with the Canadian Garrison Artillery, returning in April 1919. He was a visitor in Macleod last summer, and many who met him here will regret to hear of his death.

Bank Managers Leaving Macleod.

G. W. Hutchins, for the past five years bank manager in Macleod, is leaving here, much to the regret of a wide circle of friends both in business and social life.

Mr. Hutchins came to Macleod as manager of the B. N. A., and in 1918, when the amalgamation with the Bank of Montreal took place he was appointed manager of the latter. During his residence in Macleod Mr. Hutchins has identified himself with every activity that has been for the good of the town. He has been particularly interested in the Board of Trade, of which he is secretary-treasurer, putting himself to great personal inconvenience and expense in order that the town might receive profit and advertisement, and he will be greatly missed by all the business men of Macleod.

Mr. Hutchins has been transferred to Estevan, Sask., and expects to leave in about ten days, as soon as his successor arrives, who is G. R. Johnstone, from Bromhead, Sask. Mr. Johnstone comes with large experience in managerial capacity in different farming centres in the west.

Mr. K. W. Reikie, of the Bank of Commerce, has been transferred to Lethbridge.

Mr. Reikie has been in Macleod a matter of two years, and during that time he has won for himself a wide circle of business and social friends, and will be greatly missed in business, social and church circles.

Mr. Reikie will be succeeded as manager of The Canadian Bank of Commerce at this point by C. M. Mercer, from Yorkton, Sask., and formerly of Granum, and who is favorably known to many Macleod people.

We have no hesitation in saying that every citizen of Macleod in saying farewell to these two most respected associates wish them the greatest prosperity in their new fields of endeavor.

LATE SPRING WILL AFFECT THE ACREAGE

From reports that are coming in from various sections of the provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta there are indications that the heavy snowfall of the past weeks and the consequent lateness of the spring, there will be a greatly reduced acreage sown to wheat. However, there will be much more oats sown than formerly, which at the present prices for feed should yield good returns.

As to present conditions, the tension under which many farmers have been working has been somewhat relieved by the thaw of the past week, which, if it continues, will enable the cattle to get out on the stubble. Most men are of the opinion that the worst is over, although in many cases cattle are in a very weak condition. It is also true that in many places farmers will have great difficulty in getting sufficient horses in a fit condition to work when spring work starts. Realizing this and owing to the high price of feed, several farmers are procuring tractors and others are arranging to have their crop put in by their neighbors who own tractors, while if the weather continues wet a large quantity of wheat will be sown on stubble.

Although many will be anxious to sow more oats, really good seed oats are not plentiful, as many of the oats in the north country are grading very tough and are showing poor germination, some of it showing only 40 to 50 per cent on being tested. The seed purchasing commission is paying a premium of ten cents a bushel and are open to purchase a considerable quantity at this figure.

There was a good deal of plowing done in the south country last fall because the farmers were burned out and had nothing else to do during the good weather. The way things are shaping with anything like an even break on weather conditions, the south country should be able to come back this coming season with a bumper crop. The land is ready and there has been an unusually heavy water precipitation. And no one would begrudge to the tried farmers of the south a record crop this year. They have suffered enough.

MACLEOD U.F.A. SHAREHOLDERS MEET

A meeting of the shareholders of the Macleod U. F. A. Co-operative association was held in the town hall on Saturday afternoon to consider the financial affairs of the company. President W. H. Shields was in the chair and read the auditor's report showing the present condition of the concern, which is anything but satisfactory. He also laid before the meeting a proposition that had been made to the trustees by Mr. Hutchings, vice-president of the Great West Saddlery company, proposing an amalgamation of the two concerns. Mr. Shields said that as far as he could see there was only two things to be done; one was to wind up the business of the Farmers' Co-operative and realize what they could from their assets, and the other was to accept the proposition made by the Saddlery company, the acceptance of which would give them a much better building to do business in, and the terms offered by the company were more favorable to the farmers than any they could get elsewhere. The meeting was thrown open and there was considerable discussion, most of the farmers being willing to enter into an agreement with the Saddlery company providing a clause be inserted in the agreement whereby the farmers could buy out the interests and secure full control of the concern at any time they felt able. Finally, the following resolution was passed by the meeting: "That it is the opinion of this association that we should accept the proposed plan of amalgamation with the Great West Saddlery company along the lines suggested by the memorandum placed before the meeting, and the directors are hereby authorized to take the necessary steps to carry out this resolution."

Mr. Goodsell pointed out the great value of a more effective automobile connection between Alberta and the United States. "Alberta is already a great internationally famous objective for travellers," he said. "But they come almost entirely by train. Without decreasing your railroad travel you can easily multiply the number of your summer visitors by reaching out for motorists. Already 74 per cent. of your summer tourists are from the United States; so this is a field you can well reach into. The automobile traveller is worth more to Alberta than the train traveller. When one goes by train he does not see the country. He sleeps, or reads or smokes or talks through his trip. He sees only the big cities where he stops or his travel objective. He sees Banff, for instance, and marvels at its beauties, but he would not want to live there, for is an Iowa farmer and he wants flat land. Then he returns to Iowa by train and he tells his friends about the rugged charm of the Canadian Rockies—he does not mention the vast fertile fields of Southern Alberta waiting for the plow, because he did not see them. The motorist, on the other hand, sees all the country through which he goes. He gets close to every mile of it. "I believe Canada should study more closely the value of automobile travel from the standpoint of colonization. The motor car is destined to be a greater factor in filling the west with desirable people than the railroads have been. When a motorist comes to your country in his car, he is out for a vacation. He is out for a good time. He is disposed to enjoy and like what he sees. Often he comes to a country or a community that strikes his fancy. When he does he is disposed to stay, or to invest his money or to send his children there to live, or, at least, he will advertise that country or community back where he came from. "People who travel by automobile have money to spend, and they spend it. They spend it not only on their trip's pleasures, but they invest it. For example, Jas. T. Patten, the wheat king of this continent by virtue of his stock exchange operations, bought a thousand-acre farm in Montana recently for his son because he had seen the country as a tourist and liked it. We have frequent examples of this kind in Montana. "Alberta will do well to tie more closely onto Montana, for Montana has the two greatest parks and touring objectives of the United States—Yellowstone and Glacier national parks. Not until August last, when a group of your Canadians and some of us from Montana held a conference at Glacier park, did we know in Montana that it was possible to get over your Alberta roads to Banff by automobile. Consequently we have never sent tourists this way; they have always been sent east or west or south.

"The Banff-to-Grand Canyon road will open the way for Montana, Idaho, Utah, Arizona and California to send automobile tourists to Alberta. It will also open the way for Canadians to visit Glacier park, Yellowstone park, the Great Salt Lake, Zion national park, the Grand Canyon of the Colorado river—all of which are on this new highway."

The representatives from Alberta agreed to see that the Canadian end of the road would be marked, advertised and improved by June 15, when Montana, Idaho and Utah are expecting to have their sections of the new highway in shape for quick and comfortable travel.

It is announced from New York that the timber and the lands in Virginia, belonging to the Estate of the late Hon. Peter McLaren of Perth have been sold to Baltimore interests. The property consists of 100,000 acres of timber and ore lands. The authority in the negotiations is the New York office of J. Pierpont Morgan. The price mentioned in the deal is between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000.

MACLEOD ON THIS HIGHWAY

CALGARY, April 11.—Closer bonds of interest, admiration and affection between Canada and the United States were inspired at the Palliser hotel today following the closing sessions of the 19th district Rotary club convention. Max Goodsell of Helena, Mont., and the only representative from the United States at the Rotary meeting except International President Albert S. Adams of Atlanta, Georgia, laid before officials of the Calgary and Lethbridge automobile and Good Roads clubs a well defined plan to link the tourist features of the Rocky Mountain region with a chain of good and clearly marked roads.

Bringing with him the backing of the National Park Service of the United States and American cities south from the Montana line to the Grand Canyon of Arizona, Mr. Goodsell quickly won the interest and co-operation of the Canadians who met with him on the plan to establish a north and south motor highway, to be known as the Banff-to-Grand Canyon road.

Arrangements were completed at the road conferences for Jas. W. Davidson of Calgary, president of the Calgary Good Roads association, and D. E. Harris, president of the Lethbridge Automobile club, to mark the Banff-to-Grand Canyon road from Many Glaciers hotel, in Glacier Park, to Lake Louise. George Webster of the Calgary Automobile club and Elmer Ainsworth, inspector of public works for Southern Alberta, are undertaking the responsibility of improving the road to the Rocky Mountain Parks and to the Boundary to the south.

Mr. Goodsell pointed out the great value of a more effective automobile connection between Alberta and the United States. "Alberta is already a great internationally famous objective for travellers," he said. "But they come almost entirely by train. Farewell Party To Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Mills.

A farewell party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Orr, on Third Ave., on Monday to say good-by to Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Mills, who are leaving Macleod to take up their residence in Coaldale.

During the evening addresses were given by Rev. Mrs. (Rev.) W. A. Lewis, Mrs. C. Brewster, and Mrs. Orr, in appreciation of the part Mr. and Mrs. Mills have taken in Methodist Church work in Macleod, and expressing the regret all felt upon their leaving. At the close of the proceedings Mrs. Orr presented to Mrs. Mills a life certificate on behalf of the local branch of the W.M.S.

CHAUTAUQUA FOR MACLEOD

Miss F. M. Henry of the Dominion Chautauqua association was in Macleod during the past week canvassing the town with a view to bringing the Chautauqua here for three days in the fall. Miss Henry has succeeded in getting 25 names on the contract with J. W. McDonald as corresponding secretary. The Chautauqua will come for three days in the last week in October or early in November. The season ticket will be $1.75 for the six entertainments in the afternoons and evenings of the three days.

TABER FARMER DROWNED IN OLD MAN

Whilst attempting to cross the Old Man River, Harold James Ward, a farmer, was drowned near Taber on Wednesday last. The unfortunate man, with a team and wagon, was crossing the river on the ice when it gave way and precipitated him and his team into the water, and all were drowned. Up to a late hour on Thursday the bodies of neither the man nor the team had been recovered.

This work is being done on the main ditch only, which the district has to purchase. There has not been any trouble so far in obtaining land for the ditch. The farmers will be asked to lease land for the small branches. This proposal would save the district a lot of money, not only in the matter of land purchases, but in surveying, as both the district's surveyors and the Dominion surveyors would have to go over every small ditch.

The first camp for the Dominion surveyors will be established at the intake and the second at the Willow Creek crossing. The first camp of surveyors will work down to the second and then jump to the outlet at Keho Lake and then proceed to a point the other side of the party from the first camp.

CONSTRUCTION ON LETHBRIDGE NORTH- ERN IRRIGATION

That there is one construction company anxious to undertake the work of the Lethbridge Northern was indicated at the Tuesday afternoon meeting of the Lethbridge Northern Board of Trustees when the 30-day option on the bonds which are to be issued by the district were granted to Louis M. Roberts, Calgary solicitor. The name of the company mentioned at the meeting is the Warren Construction company, which operates largely in the Pacific coast states, principally Oregon. Rebuilding and paving, and latterly irrigation ditch construction, are the principal avenues in which they bend their energies. Boston capital is understood to be the moving force behind the company.

The Warren Construction company is at present represented in the city by an agent, Mr. Barbour, and it is understood that the company admits very frankly that they want the contract. Mr. Barbour visited the office of the Lethbridge Northern on Wednesday morning and obtained a certified statement that the resolution giving Roberts the option on the bonds was passed by the board of trustees.

One aspect of the bond situation that is interesting concerns the Carmangay-Barons and Rocky Coulee-Macleod sections. It is apparent that these districts cannot be admitted to the Lethbridge Northern project before the vote is taken on the bond issue. If these districts could be included before that time it is thought that the cost of construction would be reduced approximately five dollars an acre. It now looks as if it will be another year before these sections will be irrigated.

The first camp for the Dominion surveyors will be established at the intake and the second at the Willow Creek crossing. The first camp of surveyors will work down to the second and then jump to the outlet at Keho Lake and then proceed to a point the other side of the party from the first camp.

"Paid in Full"

MISS FREDERICK IS AT HER BEST HERE—STORY COMPELLING.

Pauline Frederick in the past has been featured in many a picture that has made a hit with the public, but it is doubtful if any of them can compare with "Paid in Full" in dramatic strength. In fact there is more dramatic intensity in this than in any of her old pictures.

The story is deeply interesting and impressive. It arouses contempt for the villain and sympathy for the heroine; and as it winds up according to the wishes of the spectator, it leaves a feeling of satisfaction and content.

OPPOSITION ASKS CONSIDERATION OF G.T.R. AGREEMENT

OTTAWA, April 15.—Dr. Reid, minister of railways, read correspondence in the house of commons today which had passed between the railway department, the justice department, the high commissioner in London and the Grand Trunk in regard to the acquisition of the agreement. One communication from the high commissioner referred to Sir Charles Russell, legal representative in London of the Dominion government as giving the opinion that "the Grand Trunk meeting was not strictly in accordance with the Acquisition act."

Explaining the situation Dr. Reid said the meeting of Grand Trunk shareholders was called regularly, in accordance with the company's bylaws. Notices were sent to 70,000 shareholders and accompanying each notice was a copy of the acquisition agreement. In Canada, however, there were a few shareholders. They were notified by an announcement in the Canada Gazette.

In the view of the deputy minister of justice and other solicitors, the meeting was regularly called although there had not been a separate notice sent to each of the shareholders. For that reason had it not been for two mistakes in the schedule of the act—mistakes which the present bill would correct—the government would have proceeded to the carrying out of the agreement in the way it was passed last session.

Effect of the Mistakes

Lucien Cannon (Dorchester), asked if a new Grand Trunk agreement would be necessary if the bill now under discussion failed to pass the house. Hon. Russell replied that he would not care to suggest that the government would carry out the agreement with the Grand Trunk without any further meetings on the question but after it had completed the agreement the government would have to come again to parliament to get the two mistakes in the agreement corrected. The government merely felt that the matter should be settled in parliament now to clear up any doubt which may have been cast on the legality of the shareholders' meeting on account of the way in which it was called. The only shareholders who could possibly take action against the agreement were two who had not been supplied formally with notice of the meeting.

Consolidation of the Big Roads
Dr. Reid said that with the ratification of the Canadian National and Grand Trunk railways a big economy would be effected. In answer to a question by Mr. Fielding the minister said that the very valuable property in London occupied by the Grand Trunk offices was no doubt included in the property which would pass into the hands of the Canadian government.

Wants Further Consideration
Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King said that the opposition had no objection to ratifying a bill which merely made some necessary corrections of minor errors in the previous legislation, but he said, the opposition did object to ratifying the Grand Trunk agreement in toto without being given an opportunity of going into that agreement in detail. There was no guarantee that there were no further and more serious errors which parliament should not be called upon to concur in. He had submitted an amendment himself, said Mr. King, suggesting that before the bill was read a third time the Grand Trunk agreement should be re-submitted to the house in committee and the agreement should not be closed with the railway until parliament had ratified it.

This privilege had been denied the parliament of Canada, while Grand Trunk shareholders in Great Britain were allowed to go into the agreement fully before the railway ratified it. The opposition, he said, could not support the present bill, as it stands, because the effect was to commit parliament to registering approval of an action already taken by the government. This was not right, he said, it placed parliament in a false position and denied to it its full rights as a deliberative and legislative assembly. He suggested that the wording of the bill be changed to make it simply a measure to correct the two minor errors, and leave open to the fullest discussion the general provisions of the agreement.

Mr. King closed by remarking that the minister of railways had intimated before he started reading, that there was only one or two documents to be read. He had been reading for about two hours and must have covered one or two hundred pages. In view of the great number of letters which the opposition desired to examine, he suggested that the government should not press second reading immediately.

Dr. Reid asked whether the opposition would be willing to go on with the bill tomorrow. If so, Mr. King might adjourn the debate.

Mr. King accordingly did this and the house accordingly rose for the dinner hour.

FARMERS PETITION FOR FREE FREIGHT ON AMERICAN HAY

According to information given on Friday by H. Higginbotham, general secretary of the U.F.A., strenuous efforts are being made by farmers of Southern Alberta to secure from the government and the railway companies a free freight concession on hay coming from United States points. With no hay supplies available in Canada closer than Ontario and Quebec, which require a long freight haul and consequently much delay, and with the possibility of securing a large supply of hay from Washington and other coast states at a fair price, it is felt among farmers that if spring seeding is to be carried on with any degree of satisfaction the United States product must be made available.

With this object in view, the matter was taken up recently by the president of the Lethbridge local U.F.A., to secure free freight concession, which would be an equivalent of about $5 to $7 a ton reduction on the Washington product.

Power Believed Available

So far, the negotiations would point to the fact that there was nothing in the order-in-council passed by the federal government which precluded the granting of this request, although it was at first thought by the provincial deputy minister of agriculture that the United States hay would not be included. The latter official has now been informed of the stand taken by the Dominion authorities, and, according to the opinion expressed in some quarters, it is quite possible that an amicable arrangement will be made whereby the hay will be carried free of freight.

Local railway officials are not, however, at all certain on the point, owing to this being interstate traffic, on which no concessions are made.

The reason given by C. E. Bain, the markets representative of the Dominion government, as to why earlier attention was not given to United States hay, was that the adverse rate of exchange was taken into consideration; also that it was the wish of the department to purchase the hay in Canada.—Calgary Herald.

"OVERALLS CLUBS" FORMING IN U. S.

NEW YORK, April 15.—Dispatches received here this morning show that the "overall campaign" of protest against the high cost of clothing is spreading rapidly through the southern and western states.

At Roanoke, Va., four different mass meetings of citizens were held yesterday and last night and three overall clubs were organized, with a total membership of 1,400.

A Greenville, S.C., many business and professional men have adopted the overall as their daily garb. Overall clubs have been organized in several nearby towns.

Every student of the University of South Carolina, at Columbia, S.C., has pledged himself to wear overalls, "until such time as the prices of clothing reach a reasonable figure."

Fifteen hundred men at Richmond, Va., were now members of the "old clothes and overall club."

Called to Organize

The chairman of the fair price commission at Atlanta, Ga., has called upon citizens to organize an overall club and has purchased 2,000 pairs of overalls, which will be sold to citizens at wholesale prices.

At Spokane, Wash., the fire chief and many city firemen reported for duty today in $8 khaki suits. The chief said, hereafter, regulation uniforms, which cost $72, would be required only on formal occasions. An overall club is organized in Emporia, Kansas. City firemen and policemen will wear denim and Rev. G. C. Brogan, recently elected mayor, probably will be inaugurated wearing overalls.

Many business men at Roseburg, Oregon, have signed an agreement pledging themselves to wear overalls and soft shirts until the price of clothing is reduced.

Several thousand members of the Loyal Order of Moose at Detroit donned overalls today pursuant to a resolution adopted last night calling upon 8,000 members to wear rough raiment until prices of clothing declined.

ENOUGH WHEAT TO SUPPLY MILLS UNTIL HARVEST

That there is enough wheat in the west to keep the mills supplied until the next crop is harvested is the opinion of A. J. McMillan of the Robin Hood Mills Co. This, of course, depends on whether the Canadian Wheat Board calls in any of the wheat that is at present in the hands of the millers, which they have the power to do. The notice just issued says that any wheat purchased by any milling license shall, on demand, be delivered to the board.

"The effect of the order means that it prevents the millers from speculating in any of the wheat they may hold," said Mr. McMillan, "and also prevents them from losing any money. Any wheat which we have to deliver up to the board will be paid for at exactly the same price we paid for it.

"At present the mills are not working, for they are loaded up with flour, and the domestic market is already provided for. If the board demands the wheat in stock, of which they have given notice, it will mean that the mills will have no wheat to grind until next harvest. This stoppage of work is causing the shortage in bran and shorts, and the situation is rendered more acute by the fact that the winter is keeping on for a longer period than was anticipated. At this season of the year most of the cattle are out.

"That is the only local effect it will have, and between now and July 31 the mills will not be allowed to speculate in any wheat they have on hand."

Mr. McMillan also confirmed the statement of H. W. Wood of the U.F.A. that the big export trade experienced during the war was practically at an end. The European customers are now anxious to buy wheat only and do their own grinding in their efforts to re-establish their own industries.—Calgary Herald.

YANKS WITH C.E.F. DON'T WANT BONUS

OTTAWA, April 14.—E. G. Nightingale, president of the American Volunteers in the C.E.F., was called when the pensions committee resumed this morning. He said there were three main questions in behalf of these men. Being a Canadian he did not wish to represent the Americans, but they had not wished to send a United States citizen lest he be unkindly treated or "might fall in love with a certain gentleman named Flynn, whose methods had not met with their approval.

The cost of living in the United States was 20 per cent. higher than in Canada, and there had been a great deal of distress among the pensioners.

What They Ask

They asked an increase of one dollar for each per cent. of disability. For total disability he asked that an allowance of $500 yearly be made to cover the cost of an attendant. Inequalities in regard to pension for officers and men should be removed. There were reciprocal arrangements where the Canadian soldiers were received in the United States hospitals, but it was often a matter of weeks or months before any pay or allowances were received. They asked quicker action.

Vocational training allowances of sixty dollars a month were insufficient in the United States. They asked that the scale be made the same as the United States, which recently had been increased to $120 a month.

The men also asked that they be allowed to take vocational training in the United States instead of being forced to come to Canada.

"Not Worth a D—"

In Chicago men with empty sleeves were the victims of "arrogant commercialism." War records and decorations in a pro-German city were "not worth a damn." The United States volunteers did not want any $800,000,000. All they asked was a decent show in re-establishment. The land scheme in Canada was not understood in the United States. The men there thought every soldier was given land.

Asked by Dr. J. W. Brien if it was the rule or exception for a man to be without pay or allowance for five or six months, the witness said it was the exception. Whenever anything of this nature occurred the bureau of war risk at Washington blamed Ottawa.

Since taking up this matter in Ottawa, he had come to the conclusion that most of the trouble lay at Washington. There were some 8,000 veterans of the Canadian expeditionary force in Chicago, but he did not know how many pensioners. There was a medical officer in Chicago.

Secretary Ahearn, of the pensions board, said there were 3,265 pensioners in the United States.

The witness said a man could not live decently on his allowance.

Col. Peck suggested that a man should be located at, say, Washington, to look after all matters connected with returned men. It was stated that the pensions board had the American Red Cross handling returned men's interests. The witness said that American pensioners lost because of the adverse exchange rate.

The witness said that Hearst papers were the returned men's worst enemies. They loved to play up a disabled man as an example of Britain's neglect of her soldiers.

WHEAT BOARD HELD UP FLOUR SALE, IS CHARGE

A statement is contained in the current issue of the Northwestern Miller, on the authority of Thomas S. Bark, of Montreal, that the Canadian Wheat Board refused two profitable offers from the United States for Canadian flour. It is stated that the United States milling interests feared Canadian flour competition in London and to remove this were prepared to buy the Canadian supply at a profit to the Canadian interests of $3 per barrel.

These offers, it is alleged by Mr. Bark, were refused, and the price of wheat raised. This so increased the cost of Canadian flour that it removed Canada as a dangerous competitor of the United States in the British market. This is said to account for the surplus Canadian flour stocks and also for the offer of the Wheat Board to decontrol domestic flour.

Mr. Bark asserts that the majority of millers do not look with favor on the latest action of the board. They claim that in a short time grass will replace mill feed for stock, and with mill feed falling in price they would have to raise the price of flour to meet the controlled wheat price. They claim they would be held responsible to the public for an increase in the cost of flour, while in reality it would be due to the controlled wheat price.

A. H. Bailey, of Toronto, another representative miller, states that in justice to the industry these things will have to be explained by the Wheat Board, especially in view of the fact that months ago millers gave warning that certain consequences would follow the failure of the board to continue selling flour for export. "The board's instructions from the government," says Mr. Bailey, "furnish excuse for its policy of selling wheat instead of flour, but millers feel that these instructions should have been amended when their probable consequences were foreseen."

As matters stand now, he states, there may have to be a rise in domestic prices of flour and feed if the milling industry is to be put back into operation. Such a contingency is distasteful to the government and the board, but there is no alternative unless at this late hour new exporting business can be found.—Calgary Herald.

FORMER H.B. LAND BRINGS GOOD PRICES FROM EX-SOLDIERS

36 Parcels Are Sold Here At Average Price of

Twenty-three parcels of the Hudson Bay lands situated about 12 miles north of Delia and averaging about $3,000 apiece, were parcelled out to returned soldiers in the offices of the Soldiers' Settlement Board on Thursday afternoon.

The board had at its disposal 84 parcels of land, taken over by the government as a result of an inspection last year, in which it was found that they held more land than their charter called for, of which 26 parcels had been applied for by returned veterans. The right of choice was decided by ballot. Twenty-four soldiers having assembled in the offices, their names were written on 24 separate ballots, and put into a churn. One of the girls on the staff then proceeded to draw out the ballots and as each man's name was drawn forth he was given the choice indicated by the ordinal succession in which his name was drawn. That this system was the fairest that could have been chosen was the opinion of all those drawing ballots. Several remarks as to its fairness came from the men as they were going through the procedure. Each of the 23 soldiers who bought land paid 10 per cent. of the purchase price. The balance will be payable in 25 annual instalments with interest at 5 per cent.

The fact that 23 of the 84 parcels made available have already been bought would indicate that the land is pretty good buying. To prevent disappointment each soldier is required to inspect personally the land which he desires, and all sales are subject to such conditions of improvement and occupation as may be deemed necessary by the board to secure the use of the land for the purpose for which it was purchased. A considerable number of observers turned out to view the sale, but when they found that the partitioned office in which the balloting was carried on would not accommodate them they dispersed good naturedly.—Calgary Herald.

MRS. O. C. EDWARDS SELLS CURIOS

Many people in Macleod will regret to learn that Mrs. O. C. Edwards has disposed of her fine collection of Indian curios. However, the collection is not to be dispersed, as they are to form the basis of a collection that is being made by the University of Alberta of Indian articles from the different tribes of Indians scattered throughout the province. The collection owned by Mrs. Edwards is regarded by the University authorities as one of the most complete and most valuable in the province and those who know the collection will feel relieved to know that it is to have a permanent home in the university of the Province. The university authorities intend to establish a department of Indian culture in which the habits, customs and folk lore of the Indians will be studied and in which will be housed all curious and objects of interest relating to Indian life. In the meantime Mrs. Edwards' collection will be placed in the geological museum.

Mrs. Edwards, who is well known throughout the province, particularly for her active public service in the Local Council of Women, has personally obtained from the Indians most of this collection, which is representative of the tribes which formerly dominated the plains of Southern Alberta and Saskatchewan. The collection represents the endeavors of over 30 years on the part of Mrs. Edwards and her husband, the late Dr. O. C. Edwards, who for many years was medical adviser to the Indians in Southern Alberta and Saskatchewan.

The collection is particularly valuable because Mrs. Edwards has been able to obtain details regarding the use, purpose and legendary belief connected with many of the articles. A pamphlet is now being prepared which will include a description of each article, and will also record interesting incidents in connection with various curios. This descriptive booklet will add greatly to the educational value of the collection.

Among the many articles included in the collection are wearing apparel, including ornamental and decorated fabrics, implements of the chase, gambling devices, instruments of torture, scalp lock, ornamented head dresses, pipes, bugles and other objects of Indian manufacture. There are also 42 colored drawings by an Assiniboine Indian artist, illustrating the hunting of the buffalo, domestic life, courtship, fighting and feasting.

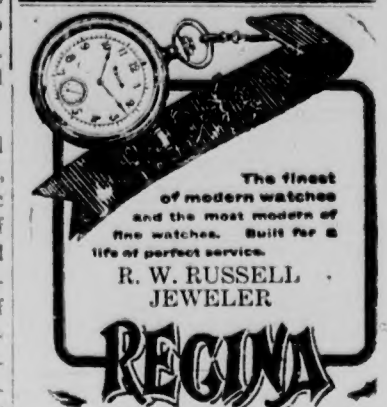

NOBODY WANTS C. N. R. GRADE

According to the latest reports from Ottawa nobody seems to want the C.N.R. grade from Macleod south and west. The C.N.R. say they don't want it, as the nearest point to which they come is Calgary, and they do not want to parallel the C.P.R. line south to Macleod—and the C.P.R. say they don't want the grade at any price. The local members have done about all they can to persuade the government to complete the work but so far without success. However, it is only reasonable to suppose that if the various irrigation projects go through, this part of the province will become more thickly settled and some company will build the railway through this territory.

PROBLEMS FOR LABOR AND CAPITAL

(Contributed.)

Waves of labor unrest have characterized the world at large during the past six or seven years. Skilled labor is well organized in many of its departments, but there are certainly weaknesses in others, though doubtless they will be remedied later on, as all difficulties are not solved at once. However, one thing will have to be done and that is unskilled and semi-skilled labor will have to be so unified and regulated in order to eliminate the possibility of such workmen taking the place of skilled workmen on strike. In the past there have been rash and extreme actions due largely to strain of circumstances and lack of knowledge as touching the motives and objectives of certain ill advised leaders who persist in radically riding in Dick Turpin fashion against the opinion of well informed men in the unions and against public opinion and sympathy.

The root of much of the trouble is the lack of confidence on the part of labor in the methods adopted by governments. Organized workers have not been slow to see the underground channels along which large concerns have moved toward one goal—their own class legislation—and in view of this it is useless to cry murder at the artisan and farmer organizations and to accuse them of promoting class legislation and being prompted by class motives. Things have been drifting for the want of firm and capable handling of affairs. Nothing is more irritating and aggravating than the bewildering multiplicity of official departments dealing with labor matters, commercial matters and other things affecting the public life which leads to confusion and conflict.

The public demanded an investigation into profiteering, and old Rip Van Winkle methods were adopted—that is, a commission was appointed, but no public reports were issued that were worth salt. Judge Robson resigned because his hands were tied. By whom? And why?

Such procedure spells ruin to industry if it is not conducted in a straightforward manner, because trades unionism today, more than ever before in its history, is stronger by reason of the experiences it has passed through, in spite of the action of a few ill informed leaders who put the bluffing air of self-confidence in place of a thorough understanding of either capital or labor; but by reason of this experience the artisan world has become well disciplined, and if now careful of every step it takes there will ultimately result an army of educated workmen having behind it a strong body of public sympathy which will be a great factor in public life in the future.

In Australia the labor party went down to defeat when it expelled Mr. Hughes and his colleagues. By that action the labor party "blew out its own brains." The groups—not the One Big Union—frankly disliked an outstanding personality. It is not personality they desire, yet you cannot shape a policy through sections or groups; there must be a unity or the machine will grind somewhere. Sectionalism weakens political ability—an extreme section will see nothing but one idea ahead and will pursue a headstrong policy without the support of the other sections or groups; but governments cannot be controlled by a section. Public opinion will not move at the dictation of extremists, and capital will resort to any means rather than meet them. However let each section or group unite, and, united in the interests of the whole, it could stand and face any industrial concern or any government with a voice that would be heard the world over.

Man is free, not an automatic machine, and he is for liberty; therefore autocracy must go before the air of freedom can be felt. Governments and organized industries win when the basis of a strike is trifling or when the strikers fail to win public opinion. When, however, the workers adopt the only method that brings them success they will win public opinion and public sympathy; and that method should be adopted in all their educational and political propaganda, viz. the selection of thoughtful accredited leaders—men who have a grip of themselves, men who can hold long and prolonged consultation with others, putting brain, education and caution into debates or deliberations; who can come from their workshops and their fellow workers with ripe and convincing decisions to present to capitalists or governments, in such a way as to demand a fair hearing and win respect from all classes and masses.

Legislation is certainly required to restrict foreign immigration, and this question must be handled without gloves very soon. B. C. is flooded with Orientals so as to become a menace not alone to labor but to civilization. African compounds revealed such terrible conditions that an investigation was demanded, which resulted in the restriction of the Chinese coolies in South Africa.

In Australia the Chinese settlers have corrupted the aboriginal inhabitants, but it is unfortunately true that the white men have not been free from reproach in this matter. Canada is a fair dominion with vast possibilities from her enterprising youth, who stand unequalled anywhere, with unlimited natural resources—a land which ought to be set apart for the true-blooded Anglo-Saxon race to develop it along lines which will mean industrial strength. There should be such a restriction of foreign immigration as to leave us strong to grow without the experiences of such social problems as our friends across the line have had to face—for instance, the negro question. The capitalists say: "No, let them come in; it is cheap labor that is the need of the day." But let us look at this for a moment.

I not very careful capital itself will soon find that it has an unmanageable infant in its arms. Many of these Orientals are capable, educated and enterprising men who will venture into the labor market for a while to gain experience and then turn round to become masters of the situation a vast deal quicker than the capitalists desire or suspects. The slant-eyed Jap has in his vision, the islands of the Pacific. A new Japanese steamship service is to be established from one of the Japanese ports or from Singapore to open trade with the South Sea Islands, and the Japanese government has offered a subsidy for this service, which will cut into the trade of Britain in the Solomon and Fiji islands. Japanese syndicates are growing cocoanuts in the Admiralty islands and are launching other enterprises. Japan has a population of 50 millions; the overflow must go somewhere; hence these developments.

Let us therefore banish from our minds the thought that the Oriental is a poor ignorant person. There are university graduates who are tradesmen and who have become a power in their own communities of the laboring classes and who will in the near future capture the trade of the Pacific. With our kith and kin already on the ground, can we stem the tide of Jap enterprise grabbing all the trade. What is to hinder Japan from plying between the Orient and Canada, bringing goods to this country of wealth from their own markets and then returning with cheap freight to Australia and New Zealand, and then steam up to the South Sea islands for raw material for Japan? The fact of the matter is Japan will also capitalize industrial concerns in Canada and then import her own countrymen to labor in those concerns and thus weaken if not break down Canadian capital and labor.

The government must handle the situation. To put the telescope to its blind eye like Admiral Nelson will be worse than useless.

To say that "it is essential to the future welfare of Canada that appropriate measures be taken by the government to fit and prepare all immigrants of alien origin for assuming the duties and responsibilities of Canadian citizenship" is all foolishness, and foolish in the extreme when applied to the Oriental. A Chinaman is always a Chinaman, a Jap a Jap and a Hindoo is a Hindoo in every part of the globe.

Ideal citizenship must be uppermost in the minds of both capital and labor or the country will suffer for generations.

CHURCH UNION WAITS ON PRESBYTERIANS

Messrs. Miller Brothers, two well known farmers of the Granum district, have taken over the farm formerly occupied by F. J. Wall, about 8 miles north of Macleod. These enterprising young farmers are sons of Lou Miller of Granum. One of them has just been discharged from the United States navy. He saw active service over in France, and according to his own statement, farming in Alberta looks a whole lot better than sailing the high seas. They are now farming over a section of land, and are very optimistic of the crop conditions this year, and fully expect a banner season. We trust and

There have been three cases before the magistrate lately of persons depositing rubbish in lanes and other places instead of at the nuisance ground. So far the delinquents have been let off with a caution, but the magistrate warns the public the next case will be more severely dealt with.

On Saturday afternoon last the Midland Motors Ltd. suffered the misfortune of having the plate glass window broken in their battery room. The manager of the Midland Motors states that owing to the doorway being crowded at the time there was no other way of entry for another customer. They were glad to see him anyway. Mr. A. Young, who handles the insurance on the windows promptly proceeded to arrange for its immediate replacement.

It may not be so many years before the state will spend all the money in elections, and candidates will be debarred from spending any money at all. That is the prediction of Mr. Fielding, and it is not such a wild guess either. Much money is squandered in campaign funds and the people have to pay for it all in the end.

The hotel in Granum has been closed. This is a most unfortunate thing for our neighboring town, for certainly the place can ill afford to be without a hotel. While we do not presume to have full information it would appear to us that the Board of Trade of Granum might have made more strenuous efforts to keep Mr. W. C. Denno, the late proprietor, in charge, as the hotel under his management was in excellent shape and well run. What the traveling public will do now is hard to tell.

Mrs. O. C. Edwards has returned to Macleod from Ottawa, where she went to attend the executive meeting of the National Council of Women. She was called to Toronto for a meeting of the sub-executive. On her return trip she visited as their guest the Local Councils of Brandon, Regina, Swift Current and Medicine Hat. At each of these places public and executive meetings were held to hear her speak. At Swift Current a banquet was tendered to Mrs. Edwards at which two hundred ladies were present. At Medicine Hat the Local Council gave a dinner in her honor.

The recent bye-election held at Northampton, Eng., for member of the house of Commons, rendered necessary by the appointment of Chas. A. McCurdy, holder of the seat, as food controller, resulted in the re-election of Mr. McCurdy, though at a greatly reduced majority. At the general election of 1919 Mr. McCurdy's majority was 7,275 over his opponent, a Labor candidate. At the recent election it was only 3371 over Miss Margaret Birdfield, also a Labor candidate. In political circles this result is looked upon as not enough of a victory for the government to be very hopeful about.

A very successful tractor demonstration was given at the farm of J. M. Henry, two miles east from Macleod, when under the supervision of Arthur King, of Charles City, Iowa, representing the Hart-Parr Tractor Co., was shown the efficiency of this tractor pulling three breaking plows under unfavorable conditions by reason of wet soil and buffalo wallows filled with water, still under these adverse circumstances, with at least one-fifth slippage, the work was done at an average cost of less than one dollar per acre. Unnecessary to state that Mr. Henry is much pleased.

HUGH MACKINTOSH, LOCAL AGENTCUT THE HIGH COST OF LIVING. ASK THE MAN BEHIND P. BURNS' MEAT MARKET COUNTER. HERE'S ONE WAY.*MOCK DUCK RECIPE

REQUISITES:—2 lb Round Beef, 2 oz. Burns' Refined Beef Dripping, 4 oz. Bread Crumbs, ½ Onion chopped fine, a little sage, pepper and salt, 2 Tablespoonfuls Milk.
RECIPE:—Place the beef flat on a board; have ready the dressing and bread crumbs, onion, sage, pepper and salt mixed together with milk; place in center of meat; put ½ oz. beef dripping on top; roll up and tie securely; then sprinkle well with flour. Use a covered roasting pan and when the remainder of the dripping is very hot, place the mock duck in the pan. When thoroughly cooked, which will take about one hour, stir in one tablespoonful of flour and one cupful of boiling water; let simmer for twenty minutes, when it will be ready to serve.

MASSEY-HARRIS PLOWS

Are the choice of the critical farmer on account of their reliability.

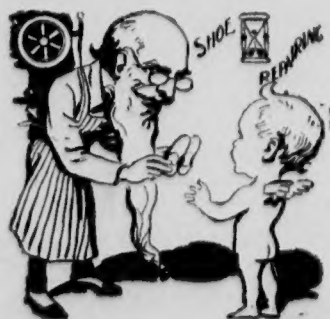

They can be depended upon under the most difficult conditions and will give good service for many years to come.

The Brandon demonstration was a severe test of both the Plows and Tractors, and the MASSEY-HARRIS PLOW, drawn by a Massey-Harris Tractor, was the only one out of 44 entries to finish in the time limit, going through the mud without a stop. And in the quality of the plowing, although there was no competitive feature arranged by the management, the Massey-Harris was freely conceded to be by long odds the winner.

This is the first time that Macleod has been included in the circuit of Short Course Lectures on the part of the Women's Institute, and we trust that this course, which is free to all, will be well patronized.

One can hardly credit it, but it is nevertheless a fact, that according to the meteorological records take at Macleod 5½ feet of snow fell in this district from Oct. 1, 1919, to April 10th, 1920, and 10 inches of snow is equal to one inch of rain.

Steps should be taken to stop reckless driving on the part of the "young bloods" of the town, especially when the said "young bloods" are loaded with "fire-water." There have been one or two narrow escapes lately owing to reckless driving of these "irresponsible."

Since Thursday, the 15th inst., I have been quoted prices on the following feed: 30 cars oat sheaves in stack, 40 tons upland hay in stack, 20 cars wheat sheaves in stack, 3 cars oat and wheat sheaves, 40 acres wheat sheaves, 175 acres wheat sheaves, 60 acres oat sheaves, 25 acres oat sheaves, 10 car loads of wheat sheaves. All these quotations are from a short distance north of Calgary but different places and men. The Department positively refuses free certificates for freight from this district. There is plenty of feed at home without the need of buying in the United States. What is the matter? — John L. Fawcett.

It is a fact worthy of note that prices for barbering—hair-cutting, shaving, etc.—have not been increased in Macleod. The same old prices are in vogue—50c for haircuts, 25c for shave and neck-shave, and this in spite of the fact that in nearly every other town of any importance in the province prices are 75c for haircuts and 35c for shave and neck-shave.

At the next meeting of the U. F. A. to be held in the town hall on Saturday, May 1st, there will be a debate, and it is hoped that every member will be present and take an active part. The resolution is as follows:

"yeas" were 23 and the "nays" 70. L. W. Oke, U.F.O. member for East Lambton, was the only government supporter who voted in favor of the amendment and against the bill.

WALES, IRELAND AND CANADA

In the course of the Home Rule debate Lloyd George declared that the bill gave to Ireland the same privileges that the American constitution gave to any of the states. "We are not a state," interjected Mr. Devlin, the Belfast Nationalist, "we are a nation." The premier's come-back was an effective one. He pointed out that there were two other nations concerned in the United Kingdom, with national traits just as strongly marked as the Irish. One of these, that to which he himself belonged, had its own language and literature which had survived for two thousand years.

Every Welsh member, the premier went on, can speak his native tongue. Can any Irish member say that?

The attitude of Wales, as well as that of Scotland, is the best answer to those who claim that a country in which there are sharp racial differences, and that the elimination of these is essential to the stability of the state.

This has great interest to Canada, where the oldest Canadians are of different racial origin from the majority of the rest of the people of the Dominion. They are very tenacious of their language and their literature. Some regard this as an evil. The Journal, for one, has never been able to share this opinion. It holds that the life of Canada is much richer because of the elements which French-Canadians bring into it. It ought to be quite possible to maintain the distinctiveness of French-Canadians and at the same time for them to enter fully into the activities of the country as a whole.

There is no more reason why they should stand aside from the rest of Canada than there has been for the Welsh standing aside from the rest of the people of the United Kingdom.—Edmonton Journal.

HOSPITAL NOTES

The usual monthly meeting was held on Tuesday evening, April 13, in the office of A. T. Leuther, when the business of the past month was reviewed and considering the handicap the board and nursing staff have been laboring under the hospital had a very satisfactory showing, which is largely due to the efforts of the committee consisting of Messrs. Leuther, McNay, and Reikie. A very pleasant surprise was sprung on the board when the chairman read a letter from Mrs. J. Horner returning the check issued to her by the board for her services during the rush owing to the flu. In her letter Mrs. Horner stated that she was only too glad to know that she had been able to help the board and expressed her willingness to do anything to further the interests of the hospital or assist the matron and nurses. Needless to say that this action on the part of Mrs. Horner was deeply appreciated, especially when it is considered that Mrs. Horner, at considerable inconvenience to herself, left her home at Rathwell to don the uniform when the hospital was in urgent need of help.

J. D. Matheson and C. W. Stevens, who constituted the visiting committee, reported that everything in the hospital was in excellent shape. Mr. Matheson suggested that a letter be sent by the board to the Matron, Miss Sarney, and to Miss Jones, expressing the appreciation of the board to them for their devotion to the hospital at a time when they were so short of helpers.

Since the last meeting of the board the staff has been increased by the addition of two nurses, Miss Gilroy of Peterboro, Ont., and Miss McCuaig of Toronto, so that the hospital is now ready for any emergency.

Miss Sarney, the matron, expressed her appreciation of the willing and able assistance rendered by the ladies of the hospital aid, who under the leadership of Miss Hodnet, president, and Miss Simpson, have contributed greatly to the needs of the institution and comfort of the patients. That the ladies of Macleod really do take an interest in the hospital is seen in many ways, but mention must be made of Mrs. Tripp and Mrs. Blakely, who each take their turn in Miss Ferguson's ward and help her to wile away the long hours of the afternoon, and owing to the kind attention of Miss Ferguson's many friends her ward has been made cheerful and attractive by many plants and flowers.

Our hospital is fortunate in

A RHYMED REVIEW

OF TOM MOORE IN "LORD AND LADY ALGY."

Lord Algy had a pretty passion,
On races he would always bet.
His lady, connoisseur of fashion,
Against his Lordship's whim was set.

On Dewdrop he had placed a fortune,
He felt that victory was sure.
Her ladyship could not importune
His Lordship to effect a cure.

So she resolved to teach a lesson
To Algy for his foolish course;
To keep her handsome husband guessing
She wagered on another horse.

She doped Lord Algy's stocky jockey,
Despite the seeming heavy cost;
And Algy soon was not so cocky
When Dewdrop dropped his pile and lost.

Go see this picture—it's a winner,
Its full of love and thrills and mirth,
It stars Tom Moore—he's no beginner,
You'll surely get your money's worth.

having upon its board a body of men who, although they are actively engaged in business, yet give unstintingly of their time and energies in the interest of the institution, and in various ways manifest their interest in its work.

Prospective purchasers of tractors frequently ask how long a machine may be expected to last in farm use. An answer with any degree of accuracy is practically impossible. Some operators will wear a tractor out in five years that a more careful operator will keep in active use ten or more years. Dealers cannot impress this fact too strongly upon their customers. As an example of what may be done by careful operation, a Kansas farmer used a tractor on his farm nine and a half years, spending a total of $75 for repairs. The machine is still in use. One of his rules is to inspect his tractor frequently and whenever a part becomes so worn that it cannot be taken up or adjusted, he obtains a new part, so that the machine is always in smooth running order.—Calgary Herald.

YOUNG FARM PEOPLES CONFERENCE AT UNIVERSITY

In accordance with arrangements now being carried out by the U.F.A. and U.F.W.A. in cooperation with the University of Alberta, a conference of young farm people will be held at the university, Edmonton south, during the month of June. The exact dates have not yet been determined. A conference of this character was held for the first time last year and proved most successful and it is anticipated that this summer the increase will be very great. Names of all young people wishing to take part should be sent to the U.F.A. central office in Calgary as soon as possible. The circular calling attention to the forthcoming conference is signed by H. Higginbotham, secretary of the U.F.A., Miss Anna M. Archibald, secretary of the U.F.W.A., and Miss J. C. Kidd, junior branch secretary.

The program last year covered a week and consisted of lectures on citizenship, agriculture, literature, nature study, tramps and wholesome amusement in the beautiful surroundings of the university, and the total cost did not exceed $10.50 per head. This was provided for by funds contributed by the U.F.A. and U.F.W.A. locals amounting to $518.25, which was sufficient to pay the railway fares of all U.F.A. delegates to the conference. The sum of $10.50 covered all expenses of board and lodging at the university. The same method of financing will be followed this year. The department of extension of the university have offered to arrange an even better conference this year than last.
